MACL Employment Services believes every person has the opportunity to dream big, realize their employment goals and be a productive member of our community.

Employing people with disabilities:

Expand your work force diversity & your bottom line

Supporting Better Businesses Transforming Lives Through Employment

Ask us how hiring a person with a disability can benefit such things as:

- Increased sales and productivity
- Expanded customer base and loyalty
- Capable, motivated employees
- Reduced employee turnover
- Recognition of a socially conscious business

MACL Employment Services creates mutually beneficial working relationships between local businesses and people with developmental disabilities by matching the skills of the job seekers with the needs of the employer.

Our services also include:

- Job support planning
Create a plan that promotes increased productivity and independence of every jobseeker
- Onsite job training
Work with you to ensure your new employee fully understands your workplace expectations and culture
- Ongoing support & consultation
Consult with you regularly to ensure all needs are continually being met
- Education
Provide disability awareness training to you and your staff

Research by the Job Opportunity Information Network found that 78% of Canadians are more likely to buy a product or service from a business that has a policy of hiring people with disabilities than from a company that does not.

Good attitudes are contagious and employing people with disabilities generates goodwill and fosters positive attitudes among coworkers and customers. Hiring people with disabilities contributes to workforce diversity, which in return contributes to the bottom line.
